Description

Lagoon 47.

A New Model Designed Based on Our Sailors’ Experience.

At Lagoon, every new model is born first and foremost from listening
This future catamaran is the culmination of the collective experience of the Lagoon community: sailors, owners, partners, and the teams. Real-world experiences, concrete expectations, and lived voyages have informed the design process of the project.

This new Lagoon model is also the result of a collaborative effort carried out internally, bringing together naval architects, the technical office, designers, and Lagoon teams. Together, they have worked to shape a model true to the brand’s DNA, while also incorporating the lessons and the know-how learned over the years.

The Lagoon embodies a clear objective: to offer a catamaran in tune with the sailing styles of today and tomorrow.
